Tales from a Vets Life in Rugby - 5th September

Mark Furber our speaker from Rugby Rotary Club started in practice in the fifties having qualified at Cambridge University. His talk covered some amusing incidents as a Vet.

The first that he encountered was trying unsuccessfully to catch a Canada Goose that needed his attention at Misterton Hall. He and the owner of Misterton Hall spent a fruitless afternoon in her boat rowing round the lake. It was finally thought more prudent to leave the goose to settle and try again the next day. Whether they ever caught it he did not say.

Another story was when he was informed one of the local Ladies Clubs had provided their previous speaker with cake apparently in the hope that it attracted a better class of speaker—he did not receive any cake when he spoke to the Group! On another occasion he spoke to a Mothers and Toddlers Group and when some months later he asked how they were progressing he was told they had disbanded shortly after he had spoken.

On another occasion he was asked how his patient (a dog) could be persuaded to stop snoring while its owner was watching TV as it spoilt the programme.

His greatest pleasure was working with new born pigs which he told us created the least problem for a Vet.

Enterprise Centre Open Day 7th October

COMMUNITY COURSES OPEN DAY

Many people would welcome the opportunity to try their hand at wood turning or just making something out of wood in a well equipped workshop, others would like to have a go on a computer or try a new craft and now they can.

The Enterprise Centre in Gilmorton Road, Lutterworth is having a community open day to show all the facilities which are available for adults who wish to try a new skill or the use of tools for an existing skill.

The centre will be open Friday 7th October, 12pm-7pm to look around, sign up for courses, sample freshly made cakes and biscuits or just browse in the shop displaying handmade products.

The courses will be informal so there will be time to have a natter over a cup of tea.

The Enterprise Centre has charity status as an independent alternative learning provision for children aged 9 – 18 and reserves specific periods for adult community use. OFSTED judged the centre to be outstanding.

Local MP, Alberto Costa, will visit the centre at 2pm to add support for this new venture.

Situated next door to the One Stop Shop the centre can be contacted on 01455 557085 or more details from:-

Frank : Ambassador for "End Polio Now".

A short report from Frank our roving Ambassador.

I had a wonderful holiday in the Isle of Wight in August . I attended the Seaview Regatta staying at the Northbank Hotel
and had a great time
BBQ on the beach
crabbing and swimming
in the sea.

I look forward to returning next year.

In September I went to Prague where I was introduced to the famous Astronomical Clock in the Old Town Square where I met many interested overseas visitors who were intrigued with the emblem knitted on my jumper "End Polio Now".

Fashion Show and Sale 15th September

Now what colour shall I have?

On the evening of Thursday 15th
September several Lutterworth Rotary Members, Inner Wheel Members, relations and friends descended on Kilworth Springs Golf Club for a Fashion Show and a chance to buy clothes from well known High Street Stores, in a wide range of styles and sizes.

Inner Wheel Members were Dressers and some were Models with the help of grand daughters and friends.

Around eighty people attended and helped to raise £262 in the Raffle which was in aid of Riding for the Disabled.

The sum of £458 raised during the evening is to be divided equally between Inner Wheel supporting (Wishes4Kids) and Rotary's chosen Charities.

An enjoyable time was had by all.

Lutterworth in Bloom

Congratulations to Robert Eggleston proprietor of the Greyhound Coaching Inn and Rotarian Elaine Turner for winning the best kept Commercial Garden in Lutterworth for the second time. As one who uses this "Right of Way" I along with other people in the Town appreciate the effort made in keeping it in such pristine condition throughout the year

Archaeology - Dr Graham C Morgan - 26th September

Graham Morgan is an accredited, practicing materials conservator with over forty years experience in the profession. He was the Principal Curator for the Ancient History and Archaeology Department of the University of Leicester, where he lectured on and taught practical material conservation and materials analysis.

Now retired, but continuing to work for both public and private sectors, he carries out practical conservation and analysis, and regularly gives lectures on the theory behind materials conservation. Primarily a conservator of archaeological materials, he also analyses mortar and plaster and charcoal remains; among other materials.

Graham was fast tracked through the accreditation system when it was launched and remains a fully accredited conservator. He is a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries and a member of the Archaeology Group of The Institute of Conservation.

Future Events

A Theatre Visit has been arranged for Wednesday 14th December at the Curve in Leicester at 7-30 p.m. to see "Grease"
